HIQA has developed Draft National Standards for Children's Residential Centres to make sure all children living in residential care are safe and well looked after. The standards tell you and your family what to expect when you live in residential care.

What the standards say

You are
listened to

You know
your rights

You are involved in making decisions about
your life

You know
how to make a complaint

Your family and friends
are made welcome when they visit

Your
values and beliefs are respected

privacy is respected

You are
supported in school or training

You are
protected

You are supported when you are leaving care
